Historical Note

The Piedmont Fox Hounds were formally recognized by the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association in 1904, although the origins of the pack can be traced back to 1840 to Confederate hero R. H. Dulany of Upperville, Virginia. Harry Worcester Smith is considered to be the first MFH of the Piedmont. The organization merged briefly with the Middleburg Hunt for the 1919-1920 season, but a rivalry between the two MFHs, Joseph B. Thomas and Daniel Sands, caused an irreparable rift between the two hunts in 1922. The separation was followed by a lengthy conflict over hunt country. However, the Piedmont Club was reorganized and Waugh Glascock served as its first MFH. Since then, the Piedmont Fox Hounds have thrived and built a reputation as one of the most famous hunt clubs in America. Members have included Paul Mellon, William Langley, and Raymond Guest. Several books have been published which chronicle the adventures of the Piedmont Fox Hounds.
